A Tale of Two Savers

Brendan and Bobby are both trying to save some money. Brendan wants to buy a new bike, and Bobby has his eye on a new video game. Which one will reach his savings goal?

Brendan has an account here at South Carolina Federal Credit Union. He sets aside part of his allowance every week, and deposits it into his account. That way he's not tempted to spend it.

Bobby keeps his money in his sock drawer. When he wants to buy some baseball cards or a pack of gum, he knows exactly where to find some cash!

Brendan sometimes does extra chores for his mom to earn a little money. He spends some, and saves some in his credit union account.

Bobby's family had a garage sale last weekend. He sold some toys and then used all the money to buy some comic books.

What do you think?

- Will Brendan buy his bike?
- Will Bobby have enough money for his game?
- Are you saving for something special?
- What's your savings plan?

Make it a Handmade Holiday!

It's the thought that counts, right? Not the amount of money you spend. So why not put a little thought into each person on your holiday gift list and make them a gift they won't forget?

Here are some fun, easy and affordable homemade gift ideas:

- Craft! Create an art card by folding a piece of paper in half, drawing a picture of all the things the person means to you on the front, and writing a short poem on the inside.
- Give your service! Create a coupon book full of coupons offering free cleaning services, time spent together, hugs, and more.
- Bake! Press cookie dough into a nine-inch cake pan to create an oversized holiday cookie. Have your Mom or Dad bake it for you. Then decorate it with frosting or sprinkles to add your own special touch.
